Dr. King--'Frequent' Death Threats

Martin Luther King, Negro civil rights leader, arrived in Los Angeles today and told newsmen at International Airport that threats to his life were made "frequently."

He added that such threats were considered seriously, but that there were many leaders in the movement who could assume the leadership if he were assassinated.

King said threats to his life increase as the civil rights movement reaches high points of action, such as Birmingham, Albany and now in Selma.

He condemned acts of violence such as that which threatened the life of Negro nationalist leader Malcolm X, but declined to pinpoint who might have carried out the assassination. He deplored the fact that Negro groups are fighting among themselves.

King said there is "probable danger" to the life of Elijah Muhammad, leader of the Black Muslim sect with whom Malcolm X had broken ties.

Citing the civil rights policy of non-violence, King said: "Violence must be condemned by all people of good will. It is not good for the image of our nation and not good for the Negro cause."

"Negroes now believe non-violence is their most potent weapon in the struggle for human dignity. I want to point out that those practicing violence represent only a small, fanatical minority."

Regarding the Justice Department's denial that it had informed King of threats and attempts on his life, the Negro leader said he had never stated he was so informed by the Justice Department. He said department spokesmen had expressed great concern for his safety.

Dr. King Under Heavy Guard on Arrival Here

BY PAUL WEEKS

Times Staff Writer

Wrapped in a heavy security guard, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. arrived here Wednesday with words of sorrow at the death of black nationalist Malcolm X and with renewed dedication "to the practicality of nonviolence." "I hope nothing happens to me," the integrationist leader smiled in answer to a question, but should he be killed, he said, there should be no violent retaliation. Malcolm's slaying Sunday in New York City came at a time, Dr. King said, "when I was re-evaluating his philosophy, showing more tolerance for white people and the nonviolent movement."

Victim of Despair

Malcolm, the onetime black Muslim who broke off to form a black nationalist group, "was a victim of the despair which comes into being as the result of a society which gives Negroes a sense of 'nobodyness,'" Dr. King said.

The leader of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference flew aboard Delta Airlines from racial demonstrations in Alabama for a series of public appearances here—his first since he received the Nobel Peace Prize.

This noon he will speak before 1,800 in the Palladium for a luncheon sponsored by the World Affairs Council. At 7:30 p.m. he will attend a premiere of the Biblical picture "The Greatest Story Ever Told," at Pacific's Cinema Theater. Proceeds will go to his Christian leadership movement.

Friday at 8:30 p.m., he will speak at Hollywood Temple Israel services.

Dr. King had been scheduled to conclude the series of appearances here with an address at Wrigley Field at 1 p.m. Sunday under the sponsorship of the Victory Baptist Church.

The Rev. A. A. Peters said he has changed the location to his church at 4802 S. McKinley Ave. at Dr. King's request because "he wanted it in a worship-service setting on Sunday."

Seating will be available for 1,700 inside the church, with provisions for any overflow on a parking lot outside, the Rev. Peters said.

Will Return Sunday

Dr. King will return to Alabama Sunday night for a renewal of voter registration demonstrations at Marion and Selma.

Cheering throngs greeted Dr. King at the airport, amid obvious indications of the heaviest security preparedness of any of his many visits here.

While police tried to whisk him off to a press conference room, Dr. King paused often to chat with admirers who pressed against the security escort.

But even at the press conference the theme stayed on the possibility of further violence in the civil rights drive.

The picture "continues to degenerate into dark nights of violence," Dr. King said. "It isn't good for our country," he said. "We've got to learn to disagree without being violently disagreeable."

The civil rights leader denied there was a contradiction in statements made by him and the Justice Department over asserted threats on his own life.

"I talked by telephone with Atty. Gen. (Nicholas D.) Katzenbach on Monday," Dr. King said, "and he expressed great concern about my safety," but details of any threat were not discussed.

"After that, I got three additional calls," he said, which "tended to confirm" reports of threats against him.

"I've learned to take threats rather philosophically," he said. "I think this cause is right. One has to conquer the fear of death if he is going to do anything constructive in life and take a stand against evil. I am prepared to face anything that comes."

Dr. King expressed his "happiness" to see "outstanding Republicans taking a courageous stand on the need for immediate federal legislation" on voting rights, but he added he felt that Johnson administration "is serious about this too."

"Realism impels me," he said, "to admit that changes in Alabama and Mississippi will not come from within," and that nothing short of "massive federal intervention" will pave the way for Negroes' civil rights there.

b7(c) 8-2-79

This informative memorandum reports high lights of recent pertinent conversations between Martin Luther King, Jr., and some of his associates having communist backgrounds, as furnished by our reliable, sensitive sources.

King's Conferences With President, Vice President and Attorney General 2/9/65
Bayard Rustin told a confidante of his that while in Washington, D.C. with King for conferences with President Johnson, Vice President Humphrey and Attorney General Katzenbach on 2/9/65 he, Rustin, wrote all of King's material and kept "everyone in line." Rustin boasted that following conferences he was stopped by Humphrey and complimented for his "great contribution to the conference." Humphrey told him that he could contact him at any time and went so far as to introduce his (Humphrey's) assistant as the man Rustin should contact about an appointment. Humphrey said to Rustin "I think you are a valuable person in our country and we must keep in touch." (u)

Comment: The Vice President has already been briefed concerning Rustin's communist background and [redacted] We cannot, of course, discount completely the possibility that Rustin's remarks were an exaggeration to impress his listener. (u)

King and Negro-Jewish Relations

King has advised his close advisor Clarence Jones that he had accepted two speaking engagements. One is to address the Women's Division of the United Jewish Appeal 3/4/65 at New York City. The other would be an address before the American Jewish Committee 5/20/65, New York City. At the March affair King is to be given the Eleanor Roosevelt Award. King indicates that Jones and "our friend", (probable reference to Stanley Levison) could work on the speeches. King told Jones that he had accepted these engagements because some of his Rabbi friends have been telling him that Jews were not supporting the civil rights movement. King believes this is in part due to anti-Semitic statements being made by Negroes such as Malcolm X (the Muslim leader). King thought it would help improve the situation if he spoke before these groups. (u)

Comment: We are having the field attempt to verify any actual participation by Levison in the preparation of speeches for King. (u)

King's Fund-raising Activities

King told Jones that he would be in California 2/25-27/65 to attend a big fund-raising project. It will include a showing of the movie "The Greatest Story Ever Told" and it would "scare the house of about $28,000." In addition, there are two or three wealthy people trying to get 50 couples to give $1,000 (presumably each couple) and they have 26 commitments already. King claimed that his organization, the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), needs the money desperately. They also discussed a group in New Rochelle, New York, which King said already had $5,000 and desired to use it for a fund-raising project to earn even more. Jones told King that the advertisement which appeared in "The New York Times" 2/5/65 soliciting funds on behalf of the SCLC cost $2,000. King said that his office had already received $12,000 as a result of this advertisement. ✓

Friction Between King and the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC)

In discussing the current racial situation in Alabama, King told Jones that SNCC was again saying that King likes to come into a situation at the last minute, get all the publicity and the benefit of contributions. SNCC claims that King makes "grandstand plays" after SNCC has done all the field work. King asked Jones if something could be done about this through Harry Belafonte (noted Negro singer). According to Jones, Belafonte is about the only person that SNCC will listen to and that he has heard Belafonte stop SNCC workers who tried to attack King's integrity. King said that he did not like for SNCC to fight against the idea of having a leader for the whole movement. King stated that the movement must have a leader because any ideology is fostered around having a leader around whom supporters can rally. Jones believes that he can arrange an unpublicized meeting between SNCC, SCLC and Belafonte. ✓

Comment: The naked boldness of King's egotism is vividly reflected in his pronouncements about the movement needing a leader (obviously King himself). ✓

Re: Communist Influence in

 Internal Security - C

A confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised on February 20, 1965, that Clarence Jones and Stanley Levison were in contact on that date. Jones related the details of a conversation he recently had with Chauncey Eskridge (Attorney and Counsel for the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, (SCLC) in Chicago, Illinois) about Martin Luther King (President of the SCLC) and his relationship with Harry Wachtel. King, according to Eskridge, had caused great concern among many people in the SCLC because of his "over dependence" on Wachtel. Eskridge said he had talked to King about the matter and was told by King that four or five months ago it was very difficult to reach Jones, therefore, Jones recommended Wachtel and he (King) had made a practice of calling him ever since. Wachtel, according to King, had become "quite assertive and had a take-charge attitude." Xu

According to Jones, Eskridge asked him if he would be able to spend more time on King's business since he had asked him (King) to pull back from Wachtel. Jones said he had told Eskridge that he will have more time in the future. X(u)

Re [Communist Influence in

Levison said that Wachtel found it very difficult to work with other people and said "that years ago when I had the kind of relationship with King that Wachtel does now, Chauncey Eskridge was a very good friend of mine and there was never any question of Negro-white differences." (u)

Levison said the problem was due to the fact that Wachtel never consulted anyone except Bayard Rustin (Organizer of the March on Washington) and said "this was the consensus, and that he (Jones) had never done that or tried to grab headlines or take charge." Levison said that probably the last straw was that Wachtel's name appeared in all the papers even though he was only the appointment manager and nothing more. (u)

With regard to Wachtel being an appointment manager, it is believed that Levison was alluding to an article in "The New York Times", February 7, 1965, which mentioned that Harry Wachtel, a lawyer for King, requested an appointment for King to meet President Johnson regarding the civil rights drive in Selma, Alabama. (u)

Jones said he might talk to Wachtel after talking to King. Levison advised him not to do so but instead, let him be the one to talk to Wachtel after talking to King. Levison remarked that he was happy with the prompt response to recommendations to pull back from Wachtel. He said he was happy that King accepted Eskridge's recommendations so readily, and that he thought that Eskridge always had "appeared ethically much nicer than me." (u)

The same confidential source advised on February 21, 1965, that Martin Luther King, Jr. and Clarence Jones were in contact on that date. King said he was leaving on Wednesday (February 24, 1965) for Los Angeles, California, where he would attend a fund raising affair, and would be staying at the Statler Hilton Hotel until Saturday (February 27, 1965). U

Jones advised that he had recently spoken to Harry Belafonte with regard to the strained relationship between the SCLC and the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC). According to Jones, Belafonte was very responsive to King's wishes, but said Belafonte felt that King should call him personally. King agreed to call him that date. U

On February 14, 1965, the same confidential source advised that King and Jones were in discussion on that date about "animosity" which exists in Alabama against the SCLC. In an effort to soothe the "animosity" of SNCC, King suggested that Jones contact Harry Belafonte and request that he solicit SNCC's cooperation. U

King, in discussing a meeting with Belafonte, said he preferred that someone accompany him, prompting Jones to suggest the name of Andy (Andrew Young, Executive Director of the SCLC) and himself. Jones explained that he and SNCC people got along well because they knew of his close relationship with Belafonte. U

Among other matters discussed by King and Jones was the matter of Harry Wachtel. Jones mentioned that Chauncey Eskridge had called to express his concern over the King-Wachtel relationship, commenting that there must be some reason for Eskridge's apprehension. King replied that Wachtel had antagonized a few people, prompting Jones to say that he had suspected such. King said Wachtel was jealous of Jones' relationship with him (King). Jones commented that "they must be very careful about that sort of things because people can knock you over the head with something like that, and they must be checked immediately." King said they must be careful that "no white man looks like he is calling the shots for him." U

King said he would return on Sunday, (February 28, 1965) from his fund raising trip to California. On Monday, according to King, he will return to Alabama; go to Howard University on Tuesday (March 2, 1965) to speak on Charter Day; and on Wednesday, he will be in New York to speak. U

Jones told King that he would like to meet with King and "our friend" while he is in New York. He said he wanted to discuss the "long standing problems that they have in New York." U

In terminating their contact, Jones informed King that Leon Berney (phonetic) a white business man who handled financial matters for Pierre Salinger during his unsuccessful campaign for the Senate, would appreciate a call from King when he arrived in California. U

In "The Saturday Evening Post", issue of July 11-18, 1964, page 76, Bayard Rustin is the subject of a feature article captioned: "The Lone Wolf of Civil Rights." In it, Rustin is said to have come to New York in 1938, as an organizer for the Young Communist League (YCL), and as such, he had the job of recruiting students for the "Party". Furthermore, the article reports that during his first years in New York, Rustin gave most of his earnings to the "Party". He reportedly left the "Party" in 1941, the article states. U

The YCL has been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450. U

Dear Mr. Hoover:

I'm enclosing two pamphlets, I would like to know if the story they carry is true.

If they are true dose our President, Mr. Johnson, know about this?

If Mr. Johnson knows about this why isn't something done to stop this man (Martin Luther King) from misleading innocent Americans by this constant gnawing at the very foundation of our republic.

I've read Manning's book, who was a communist and later defected to our side. He tells the story of how the communist have planned to use the colored race to divide our country thur this rioting and revolution maneuvers.

Isn't the greatest country on earth worth saving? Don't ve have enough patrcits in our government to rise up and do something before it's to late?

ST. AUGUSTINE

Rape Of The Ancient City

A. G. Heinsohn, Jr. is President of Cherokee Textile Mills. A scholar and practical economist, he is author of One Man's Fight For Freedom and Anthology of Conservative Writing (a collection of many of the finest Americanist essays and articles of the past two decades). The following is a result of days of careful inquiry and interviews in St. Augustine.

■ FOUR HUNDRED YEARS ago next September, St. Augustine, the oldest city in America, was founded on the east coast of Florida by Spanish explorers. Time has only beautified this ancient city of eighteen thousand citizens. St. Augustine, with its forty-five miles of wide, sandy beaches and its fascinating store of Spanish antiquity, has long been a vacation playground and a mecca for history-conscious tourists.

Since the founding of the city, white and Negro families have lived side by side in peace and happiness. They live that way today, within one block of the City Hall and in most other parts of the city. For seventy-five years, the Negro citizens have voted in city elections, and civic participation by St. Augustine's four thousand Negroes has been constantly encouraged by such organizations as the local Junior Chamber of Commerce—which has even operated voter-registration campaigns among Negro citizens. Always a leader in municipal responsibility, St. Augustine was one of the first Southern cities to employ Negroes on its police force. This was done thirty years ago, and the integrated St. Augustine Police Department has been used as a model for other Southern cities. It might also be noted that the St. Johns County Sheriffs Department—the county force also responsible for the city of St. Augustine—has been integrated now for many years.

There are no segregation ordinances on the city's books, and, as a result, no public facilities are segregated. The public schools were integrated in the Fall of 1963 without a court order. On the ocean, separate public beaches were used; but not by compulsion of law, by habit and by preference. [Most Negroes used Butler's Beach. In fact, the main section of that beach was donated to the State especially for Negroes by Frank Butler, a leading Negro citizen.]

I

SOME THREE YEARS ago, a Negro dentist named Dr. R. B. Hayling arrived in this quaint, peaceful community. He came to take over the practice of the late Dr. Rudolph N. Gordon, a highly respected Negro dentist with many more white patients than colored. Then, shortly after his arrival, Hayling surfaced as an extreme and violent racist—demanding racial coordination by the force of government. He soon became the leader of the local NAACP group.

In June of 1963, the Mayor of St. Augustine, Dr. Joseph Shelly, was forced to return from his vacation because Hayling, the dentist, claimed that he could no longer restrain his NAACP followers from acts of violence unless the city complied with certain demands. Upon his return, Mayor Shelly was compelled to reject Hayling's incredible demands for desegregation on the simple grounds that no public facilities were segregated, and because—as everyone knows—he had no such authority over privately-owned restaurants and motels. For these same reasons, the Mayor also refused to appoint a “bi-racial committee,” a propaganda action by Dr. Hayling. An UPI dispatch of June 19, 1962 quotes Hayling as threatening criminal violence:

I and others of the NAACP have armed ourselves, and we will shoot first and ask questions later.

On November 15, 1963, Hayling was severely reprimanded by Judge William McRae in the Federal Court at Jacksonville, Florida, where he sought an injunction against the city. In denying the injunction, the Federal Judge told Hayling:

The court is of the opinion that the plaintiff did not come into court with clean hands. Their leadership and particularly Robert B. Hayling have displayed a lack of restraint, common sense and good judgment, and an irresponsibility which have done a disservice to the advancement of the best interests of all the plaintiffs and others in St. Augustine who are similarly situated. Problems which might well have been solved by intelligent action have been handled with deliberate provocation and apparent intent to incite disorder and confusion. [Emphasis ours.]

scheme proposed by the militant dentist.

Mr. Hayling's followers then began to engage in sit-in and lie-in demonstrations on private property, in open violation of local and state laws—the sort of simple trespass laws which have been a part of most state and local codes for centuries. The local police were thus forced to arrest and remove the law-breakers. Not a single Negro was injured. The failure of these demonstrations to produce violence now seemed to provoke the need for more drastic

At this point, the local NAACP was forced to disavow Hayling.

The little city now settled down to prepare itself for the anticipated flow of tourists upon whom they depend for a living. In the meantime, Hayling, after being dropped by the NAACP, became the local leader of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), the front organization of the notorious Martin Luther King. As such, he invited [March 11, 1964] the Massachusetts Chapter of the SCLC to send agitators to St. Augustine during the college spring vacation.

Just before the spring vacation began, a shocked local boy, attending school in Connecticut, warned St. Augustine's Mayor Shelly of the planned invasion. He also sent the Mayor copies of leaflets that had been distributed to students and clergymen throughout the New England area by the Student Christian Movement and the SCLC; the leaflets called for demonstrations in St. Augustine on March twenty-first to twenty-eight and/or March twenty-ninth to April fourth. Trouble was on its way.

II

DR. HARDGROVE S. NORRIS, a prominent surgeon and a highly respected citizen of St. Augustine gives this eyewitness account of the invasion that followed:

"St. Augustine has been targeted for demonstrations since last summer. There were sporadic attempts to integrate restaurants and motels. This was done in some of the chain firms such as at the Holiday Inn, Howard Johnson's, and Woolworth's. By Easter, a special task force invaded St. Augustine, highlighted by the activities of the Peabodys of Massachusetts. The last week of May saw the real invasion under the command of Martin Luther King and his lieutenants. In spite of King's efforts, at no time, I repeat, at no time did the peace of St. Augustine become threatened. At no time did the local police and Sheriff lose control. Law and order were maintained completely. The city further strengthened the hand of its law-enforcement officers by declaring a ban on demonstrations after eight-thirty at night. It was at this point that the Federal Judiciary, in the form of the Federal Court in Jacksonville (under Judge Simpson), turned the demonstrators loose by interdicting the right of the city to impose and enforce the ban—an unbelievable precedent. Concurrently with this, the Governor of the State of Florida intervened directly in the internal administration of law enforcement in our community.

"Now it is important to understand that prior to this the Governor had cooperated with the City of St. Augustine by sending in as an auxiliary force a small number of state troopers. Because of the invasion of outsiders of unknown accountability, the citizens of our community, the city officials, the Chief of Police, and Sheriff, appreciated the relief and aid which those troopers provided and were very glad to see them here. But, on June fifteenth, a change

King said, "St. Augustine will be on its knees."

occurred. The Governor suddenly invoked a special emergency police power that had been voted by a special session of the Florida Legislature in 1956. He announced to the Press that he was taking personal command of law enforcement in 'strife-torn' St. Augustine. This was strange because there was no strife in St. Augustine.

"As a member of the staff of Flagler Hospital, I can vouch that we had very few injuries resulting from the demonstrations brought to the hospital, and the injured that were brought were of a minor consequence usually treatable with a Band-Aid. The action of the Governor was simply not justified by the actual situation in St. Augustine."

This unusual and curious act by Governor Farris Bryant rendered the powers of the local Sheriff and Chief of Police impotent. They were left to handle petty larceny and the usual misdemeanors that plague any community—but they were now powerless to prevent an outbreak of violence which might result from the presence or activity of "Reverend" King's racist agitators. St. Augustine was firmly in the hands of the Governor's special police force, and the arbitrary actions of that force were shocking. We again quote Dr. Norris:

"From being a friendly force, the state troopers were transformed almost overnight into a hostile army. There were incidents of citizens being stopped in the course of their normal movement and searched, the most pedestrian articles were often seized, and all this was done without warrant or reason.

One of the first individuals treated in this fashion was a prominent physician, Dr. Raymond S. Cafaro. He'd been on a house call and was returning down one of our main streets when he was stopped by a trooper and told that the area was blocked and he had to go another direction. The doctor demurred and agreed to turn around and retrace his steps. As he started off, the state trooper commanded him to halt, and, when he rolled to a stop, he was ordered to identify himself. Even though Dr. Cafaro did this properly, he was forced to get out of his automobile, place his hands on the roof top of the car, spread his legs and be ignominiously searched in front of local citizens, many of whom knew and respected him and who vigorously protested to the state trooper. They were told to shut up, or they would be put in jail. The state trooper then forced the doctor against a stone wall, leaving the car in the middle of the road, and called a patrol wagon to take him to jail. Fortunately a local policeman happened to arrive on the spot and secured the doctor's release.

"Another incident occurred to the wife of one of our other physicians. She was kindly delivering some medicine to a friend. It was about eleven o'clock at night when she was stopped very much in the same fashion. Because she did not halt fast enough for the officer, she was hauled out of the automobile and carried off to jail. Her husband had to get out of bed and go to the jail to secure her release. He was compelled to post a twenty-five dollar bond. This is in contrast to the treatment accorded Martin Luther King, who was proved to have employed, in his agitation, parolees of a minor age from a detention school. He was charged with the crime of "contributing to the delinquency of a minor," but King was treated differently; he was released without bail on his own cognizance.

"Another incident occurred in which a man appeared at the Sheriff's office with a receipt to reclaim his son's toy popgun, one of those cork air-guns that children use. He presented himself to the Sheriff and asked where he had to go to recover this deadly [sic!] weapon which the Governor's officers had seized from his car the night before.

"A very revealing incident was the arrest by a state trooper of a local policeman of fifteen-years honorable service. He was in civilian clothes at the time, but identified himself to the trooper. Our police officer was charged with carrying a concealed weapon which, in actuality, was a fifteen-inch piece of waterpipe. He was carrying the pipe, as evidence, openly in his hand to the police station to be checked for fingerprints. On arrival at the county jail, a Deputy Sheriff again identified this man as a local police officer. Nonetheless, the state trooper still preferred charges and our officer was jailed. Obviously, the Judge threw this case out of court.

OCTOBER, 1964

Mrs. Peabody and dentist Hayling.

"As these incidents were multiplied many times over, local citizens were horrified to realize that the state troopers who at first had been allies and friends were now their jailers, and had, in effect, isolated and exposed their integrated, model community to the nightmare of what can only be called a police state. Citizens quickly realized that there was no difference between what was happening under the state troopers and what would have happened if an occupying federal army had been sent in. The treatment, in no way, could have been worse.

"The commandant of the state troopers, meeting with doctors in our community in an endeavor to set up a precautionary First Aid Station, made the comment that his orders were to protect the Negroes in whatever demonstrations they might wish to make. It was obvious that this was exactly what the state troopers were doing; protecting imported agitators—under our Governor's orders—as they set about violating the peace and private property of our citizens. The state troopers stood by while the demonstrators invaded the private swimming pool of a motor court. They even led midnight marchers through residential sections, turning flashlights upon the first and second-story windows of houses where families were sleeping. They permitted the demonstrators to bellow songs and shout, and allowed them, as well as news photographers, to trample private lawns, destroying shrubbery and flowers. The special state troopers ceased to be regarded as friends and some restaurants even refused to serve them. During this time, our Chief of Police and Sheriff were forced to withhold their forces. The commandant of the state troops made no attempt to coordinate and cooperate with them in any way, and the city officials and the city law-enforcement agencies were completely by-passed."

From many eyewitnesses come statements praising the Sheriff and the Chief of Police who on one occasion were even forced to brush aside the confused state troopers in order to avert certain violence; they turned demonstrators from a planned line of march which would have taken them right into a meeting of angry white citizens gathered in the Plaza. At least seven eyewitnesses to whom we spoke felt that the special state police force was saved from a serious situation only by the quick and intelligent action of the local enforcement officers who knew and understood the local situation.

Remember that, in creating this special state police force, Governor Bryant conferred upon it the power to make arrests for violation of any regulation that he might promulgate. This, in effect, turned St. Augustine into a police state under martial law. During the period, it was primarily white local citizens who were seized and searched for so-called deadly weapons by the Governor's special police force. There was an obvious effort made to avoid searching Negroes and agitators. The few times that the Sheriff was able to have even a few of the demonstrators searched, law officers collected numerous pistols, knives, and ice picks. When the Sheriff tried a general search of demonstrators before a mass march, the special police force refused to allow it.

III

NOW THAT THE race agitators have departed, law-abiding citizens of this ancient city have paused to reflect; many questions come to their minds.

One has to do with Hayling, the dentist. His dental practice is almost nonexistent. His dental office is now a near headquarters for outside agitators, and he is still authorizing bills in the name of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference. The source of the funds that sustain him and support his activities is a mystery.

The provocative and willfully unlawful acts of the publicity-seeking Mrs. Malcolm E. Peabody, mother of the Mayor Shelly refused to bend to the racists.

Special state forces waded into the ocean to attack St. Augustinians with clubs.

Governor of Massachusetts, are regarded by most St. Augustinians as those of a misguided "do-gooder" in her dosage; acts to be expected from the brain-washed wife of a retired Episcopal Bishop tainted with a strange public record of some thirteen Communist Front affiliations. No such compassion is felt, however, for her son, the Reverend George Peabody, whose display of straight-from-the-bottle vodka drinking—while in clerical garb—engendered no great wave of respect. The same might be said of his later performance described in these words by L. O. Davis Jr., Sheriff of St. Johns County:

While Mrs. Peabody was recently confined in the St. Johns County Jail, a man dressed in the garb of a priest or minister came to the jail and stated that he wanted to visit his mother, and that he was her son, Reverend Peabody.

I told him that she was retired and that I did not allow visits from persons who were heavily under the influence of intoxicants and refused to allow him to visit her. I told him that if he did not leave that I would prefer charges against him. He called a taxicab and left.

The citizens of St. Augustine think they understand—if they cannot respect—the Peabodys; but they cannot understand why they were invaded by a Press corps many times larger than the one that came to report the visit to their city by Vice President Lyndon Johnson last March 11, 1963. If reporting the truth is still considered a proper journalistic function, then, they ask, why didn't the Press check the inflammatory and false statements contained in the releases of King's fronts before moving an army of cameramen and reporters into their city? Why were cameramen and reporters always stationed, in advance, at the trouble spots? [Their presence was even used as an indicator by law officers who thus knew where the agitators planned to perform next.] Why were the agents of the Doctor Hardgrove Norris, an eyewitness.

Press so openly in favor of the provocateurs and so violently against the citizens of their peaceful little town? The questions go on and on.

Another puzzle to them is the complete reversal of position taken by certain public officials. Why, they prudently inquire, should a Federal Judge deny an injunction against the city (and in doing so actually brand Mrs. Malcolm Peabody a trouble-making outsider) and then suddenly reverse himself and supinely grant the same injunction to Martin Luther King—this time publicly humiliating their Mayor, Chief of Police, and Sheriff?

From many eyewitnesses comes the impression that Judge Simpson conducted a court that was demonstrably biased in favor of King's hoodlums. After the lawyers for the city and the lawyers for the agitators had rested their cases, Judge Simpson even took a day and a half to ask leading, often insulting, and highly loaded questions of local law-enforcement officers while fawning upon the racist agents and their attorneys. "Reverend" King was surely a far greater hero to this Federal Judge than he was to the Negro ministers of St. Augustine, who refused to have anything to do with him. After all, the Negro ministers concluded, St. Augustine is not a segregated community. They were also familiar with King's past associations with the activities and agents of the Communist Party of the United States.

And why, St. Augustinians ask, did their Governor reverse his position from supporting the very efficient local law-enforcement agents to down-grading them and placing over them a special state force with orders to protect the Negroes—and not the total community? What changed his mind? He had numerous agents in St. Augustine who knew how efficiently and peacefully the local law officers were then handling the situation. And, perhaps most important, who convinced the Governor to proclaim a state of emergency over this peaceful American city?

As distant spectators the citizens of St. Augustine—like all of us—saw local law-enforcement officers displaced by federal paratroopers in Little Rock, Arkansas. They also saw local law-enforcement officers displaced with Federal Marshals in Oxford, Mississippi. They have noted the cries of "police brutality" coming from the Communist Press and certain foolish "Liberal" dailies in Northern cities—and against some of the best local police forces in the world. But before their very eyes the citizens of St. Augustine now watched as their own efficient and respected police officers were displaced by a subservient Governor and replaced by a strange special police force. After putting two and two together, they wonder if St. Augustine was not used as a practice run to test the use of special state police forces, instead of the U.S. Army or U.S. Marshals, as an occupying military unit.

IV

WHEN THE demonstrations of both the amateur "do-gooders" and the professional provocateurs led by Martin Luther King failed to produce riots and violence—when the citizens of St. Augustine, Negro and white, refused to act lawlessly—"Reverend" King found himself in trouble. He had boasted in previous press conferences that he would "have St. Augustine on its knees" in ten days. He was now being severely criticized for his failure by the more militant Negro leaders who have since operated their successful riots in New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Illinois, Kansas, and Michigan; they were clamoring for his removal as a leader of the cause. King now needed a face-saving operation very badly. It came in the form of a most unusual telephone call from United States Senator George Smathers. The Senator, stating that he was acting as liaison officer for the President of the United States, urged a business leader of St. Augustine to comply with "Reverend" King's demand to form a bi-racial committee. This would save face for King, as he had now completely lost out on every other demand.

To the credit of local businessmen and the Mayor, the entire community of St. Augustine—black and white—stood firm. They refused to bow the knee to King, to the Governor, the Senator, or even to the White House. They flatly refused to form or to serve on the "bi-racial" committee, come Hell, hurricane, or the whole Fifth Army.

It was Governor Bryant who now rushed to the rescue of Martin Luther King by announcing that he had formed a bi-racial committee for St. Augustine. When asked by the Press to name the members of the committee, the Governor—always an innovator—offered something new in American politics: "It was a secret committee," he said. The bewildered local citizens are convinced that the same White House pressure that was applied to their Senator was again used on their Governor. There is, under the circumstances, no other explanation.

Finally, armed with a non-existent victory, "Reverend" King could go to Washington to be pictured standing behind President Lyndon Johnson as he signed the newly enacted "Civil Rights Bill."

In their initial state of shock, St. Augustinians were reluctant to believe that the highest office of this land could, or would, be used to bail out a racist agitator like Martin Luther King. It was with dismay and disbelief that they found their Federal Judge, their junior Senator, and their Governor trying to force them to "their knees" instead of fighting to protect them in their Constitutional rights.

TODAY, the stunned citizens of St. Augustine are beginning to recover from the immediate terror of their experience. They find themselves, as one native expressed it, "between a rock and a hard place."

If they accede to the continuing demands of one Martin Luther King, they will not only suffer from the loss of local trade, but they know that fewer tourists will wish to visit their beautiful city. On the other hand, if they refuse to obey the public accommodations section of the new "Civil Rights Bill" (proclaimed an un-Constitutional invasion of private property by many authorities, both in and out of Congress), they will be held in contempt of court and deprived of their property.

This pitiful situation is perhaps best expressed by one of the affected restaurant owners who says:

This thing is more than just civil rights . . . if this law stands, Congress can pass any law it wants to, and that means a powerful centralized government with complete control over our lives and savings. I had to leave high school to earn my living, but under the American free enterprise system, I got what I've always dreamed of owning; my own business. I've fought and worked hard for what I've got. Now that it's almost mine and almost paid for, my government comes along and threatens to destroy me, instead of protecting me, just to please outside, trouble-making agitators.

The responsible citizens of St. Augustine have shown that they deplore violence and do not intend to use it. Naturally, they will resist laws that deprive them of their personal freedom and destroy them financially—but they continue to see corrective action at the polls as the proper approach.

Their first concern, of course, is to correct the absolutely false and dishonest reporting that has cut their normal tourist trade in half. St. Augustine, today, is as safe a place for tourists, if not safer, than any other city in America. It is certainly far safer than our nation's capital where women fear to walk the streets alone at night, or even New York City, the site of the World's Fair. This fact is clearly realized by today's tourists who are delighted to find beauty and peace in this ancient town—instead of the ugly violence so falsely pictured by the hatchet men of the "Liberal" Press.

The second concern of St. Augustinians is to take corrective, legal action to undo the injustice which they feel has been imposed upon peaceful citizens of all races by the patently un-Constitutional features of the new "Civil Rights" law. Proper, peaceful action at the polls is again the approach they propose to take.

To this city, which so recently learned the meaning of the phrase "police state," Election Day, 1964 means more than it may seem to mean elsewhere in this great land. Citizens of this ancient and lovely city on the sea have already learned what "Liberalism" has in store for all Americans unless, as a nation, we once again honor our commitment to our God, to our founding fathers, and to the Constitution of the United States. In the meantime, they have entrusted us to remind you that if it can happen in St. Augustine, your town could be next. ■ ■

The above picture was made by an employee of the State of Georgia, at the Highlander Folk School in Monteagle, Tennessee, during the Labor Day week-end of 1957. The photographer was sent to the Highlander Folk School by the Georgia Commission on Education. The Highlander Folk School was abolished by an Act of the Legislature of the State of Tennessee at a later date because it was charged with being a subversive organization.

Those numbered in the picture are:

1. MARTIN LUTHER KING, JR.
2. ABNER W. BERRY, a member of the Central Committee of the Communist Party.
3. JUBREY WILLIAMS, President of the Southern Conference Education Fund, Inc., a fellow-traveling organization, and,
4. MYLES HORTON, director of the Highlander Folk School for Communist Training, Monteagle, Tennessee.

Karl Prussion, a former F.B.I. counterspy, has this to say about Martin Luther King, Jr.:

"... I further do solemnly swear and attest that. . . one Rev. Martin Luther King was always set forth as the individual to whom Communists should look and rally around in the Communist struggle on the many racial issues.

"... I hereby also state that Martin Luther King has either been a member of, or wittingly has accepted support from Communist fronts, individuals, and/or organizations which give aid to or espouse Communist causes, numbering over 60."

Martin Luther King, Jr., promises us more and greater violent demonstrations during the coming summer and he says that they are coming whether the "evil rights" bill is passed by the Congress or not. It is only through violence and strife that Martin Luther King can gather from the suckers of the Nation around a million dollars a year to finance his activities.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

From time to time we have made favorable comment upon Martin Luther King and his non-violent, middle-of-the-road tactics in a crusade for first-class citizenship for all negroes.

We are deluged with what seems to be "hate literature"
charging him with being a Communist, etc.

We would be very happy if you could give us a factual statement regarding Martin Luther King. We want to be in the clear in reporting his activities.

Thanking you for your assistance in these matters, I am,

Dear Mr. Hoover:

After completing a talk Friday night (2/19) before a local group on Brotherhood Week, a member of the audience asked me whether I thought the NAACP was a communist organization. I replied that I did not.

He then asked whether I thought Martin Luther King is a communist. When I again replied in the negative, he said, "J. Edgar Hoover says he is; or don't you think he knows what he's talking about?" I was unaware of any such statement by you and declined to be drawn into further discussion with him. (It turned out he was not a member of the organization, but an outsider who apparently came just to heckle.)

To counter any possible repetitions and to be ^eforewarned, I would appreciate your comments as promptly as possible, in reference to both the NAACP and Martin Luther King.

Your cooperation will be most helpful.

Gratefully,

Reverend MARTIN LUTHER KING has been sponsoring Negro voter registration demonstrations in Dallas County, Alabama, during the recent month.

On February 15, 1965, Bureau Agents observed Dr. KING drive from Selma, Alabama, to Camden, Alabama, the county seat of Wilcox County, arriving at approximately 12:45 p.m. KING went directly to a voter registration line formed outside the Wilcox County Courthouse where 86 Negroes were standing in line in front of the voter registrars' office. A number of these were heard telling KING no one had been allowed to register as they lacked a voucher. They had reportedly asked Sheriff P. C. JENKINS to vouch for them, but JENKINS stated he could not as he was a politician. JENKINS stated he was in political life and it would not be legal for him to vouch. KING then asked JENKINS if he could attempt to locate a white citizen to vouch for the Negroes, to which JENKINS stated he could, although KING apparently made no attempt to do this. KING talked to different persons in the voter registration line and made a statement to the press that they needed plaintiffs to file immediate suit eliminating the necessity for a voucher in connection with voter registration.

KING stated mass meetings would soon be held in Gee's Bend and Camden, Alabama. KING at the time was accompanied by his brother, A. D. KING, FRED SHUTTLESWORTH, RICHARD BOONE, ANDREW YOUNG, and BERNARD LEE.

KING left Camden, Alabama, at approximately 1:45 p.m., returning to Brown's Chapel A.M.E. Church in Selma, Alabama, at 2:30 p.m.

On February 16, 1965, a Negro mass meeting was observed to be held in Brown's Chapel A.M.E. Church, Selma, beginning at about 7:30 p.m. and ending at 11 p.m. Dr. MARTIN LUTHER KING was at Brown's Chapel from about 7:45 p.m. to 11 p.m.

9:20 p.m., at which time he left, reportedly en route to a church service at Gee's Bend near Alberta, Alabama, Wilcox County.

Dr. KING at Gee's Bend spoke at a Negro mass rally on the night of February 16, 1965. The estimated attendance was approximately 500 Negroes. The meeting was held at Pleasant Grove Baptist Church, and KING was principal speaker. He arrived at the church at approximately 10:30 p.m. CST and left at 11:45 p.m. to return to Selma, Alabama. He thereafter went directly to the home of Dr. SULLIVAN JACKSON, 1416 Lapsley Street, to spend the night.

Bureau Agents observed the meeting. No local law enforcement authorities were on the scene as the church is located in a rural area of a sparsely populated section of Wilcox County. Gee's Bend, Alabama, is populated entirely by Negroes. No incidents occurred.

ANDREW YOUNG, Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), advised he felt the meeting at this church was a success and interest appears to be high in that area concerning voter registration. He stated Dr. KING encouraged Negroes to "lift up their heads" and "strive for their voter rights." It is hoped, according to YOUNG, that KING has given the necessary "spark" to the drive in Wilcox County to get Negroes registered; however, something must be done to circumvent the "voucher system" as this appears to be the main barrier in Wilcox County to getting Negroes registered. No Negroes are presently registered in Wilcox County, and no white registered voter will "vouch" for the Negroes.

This document contains neither recommendations nor conclusions of the FBI. It is the property of the FBI and is loaned to your agency; it and its contents are not to be distributed outside your agency.

MARTIN LUTHER KING....AT COMMUNIST TRAINING SCHOOL

The above picture was made by an employee of the State of Georgia, at the Highlander Folk School in Monteagle, Tennessee during the Labor Day week-end of 1957. The photographer was sent to the Highlander Folk School by the Georgia Commission on Education. The Highlander Folk School was abolished by an act of the Legislature of the State of Tennessee at a later date because it was charged with being a subversive organization.

Those numbered in the picture are:

1. Martin Luther King, Jr., of the Montgomery boycott and the Birmingham riots. Karl Prussion, a counterspy for the FBI for twenty-two years, charges that Martin Luther King belongs to sixty Communist-front organizations — more than any Communist in the United States. He is promoted and encouraged by the Kennedys.
2. Abner W. Berry of the Central Committee of the Communist Party.
3. Aubrey Williams, President of the Southern Conference Education Fund, Inc., The Transmission Belt in the South for the Communist Party.
4. Myles Horton, Director of Highlander Folk School for Communist Training, Monteagle, Tennessee.

These "Four Horsemen" of racial agitation have brought tension, disturbance, strife and violence in their advancement of the Communist doctrine of "racial nationalism."

A confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, furnished information on February 17, 1965, indicating that Bayard Rustin (Organizer of the March on Washington) and the Reverend Ralph Abernathy (Financial Secretary and Treasurer of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, SCLC) were in contact on that date. The contact, according to the source, was principally devoted to the physical condition of Martin Luther King, Jr. (President of the SCLC). Abernathy advised that King was sick and in a rundown condition in Selma, Alabama, and therefore, desired to get away for a few days rest this weekend before returning to Alabama on Monday (February 22, 1965), where "they" plan to meet Governor Wallace. King, according to Abernathy, desires to go to Nassau or Bimini for his rest. X U

According to Abernathy, King's financial condition is so bad that he did not have the $500.00 needed to take the trip to Nassau or Bimini. Rustin was surprised to hear the news prompting Abernathy to remark that King was completely broke. Rustin was requested to raise the necessary money, which he agreed to do, and said he would get the money to King's office or to his home in Atlanta, Georgia, either on February 17th or 18th, 1965. Abernathy, in commenting on King's return to Alabama next week, said they hoped to lead a thousand or more people on the state capital in Montgomery on Monday, (February 22, 1965) to protest conditions in that state. X (u)

The same confidential source furnished information on February 17, 1965, that Rustin was in contact with Harry Wachtel on that date. Rustin took the opportunity to tell Wachtel about King's physical and financial conditions. Wachtel said he had some checks made payable to King which he had been collecting. He said one of them amounted to $100.00. Wachtel agreed to send King a personal check in the amount of $500.00. X (u)

In "The Saturday Evening Post", issue of July 11, 18, 1964, page 76, Bayard Rustin is the subject of a feature article captioned: "The Lone Wolf of Civil Rights". In it, Bayard Rustin is said to have come to New York in 1938 as an organizer for the Young Communist League (YCL), and as such, he had the job of recruiting students for the "Party". Furthermore, the article reports that during his first years in New York, Rustin gave most of his earnings to the "Party". He reportedly left the "Party" in 1941, the article reports. u

AT MARION, ALABAMA

Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) observed a mass meeting beginning at 9:00 a.m., February 12, 1965, at the Zion Methodist Church. At 11:00 a.m. a group of about 95 Negroes were observed to leave the church and march to the County Courthouse where they were confronted at the south entrance by Chief of Police T. O. Harris. The leaders said they wished to register to vote and were told that the Board was not in session. At the same time, a group of about 36 Negro teenagers went to the north entrance of the courthouse where they were confronted by Sheriff W. H. Loftis. No demonstrations were conducted and both groups marched back to the church about 11:27 a.m. No incidents were observed in connection with this occurrence.

On the night of February 12, 1965, a rally was observed at the Ebenezer Baptist Church from 7:30 p.m. until 9:25 p.m. with about 175 Negroes in attendance. James Orange, Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC), advised that a Reverend Wells from Albany, Georgia, was the principal speaker at this rally. PERRY COUNTY, ALABAMA

Principal speaker was Reverend James Orange who urged Negroes to march to the County Courthouse in Marion on Monday, February 15, 1965.

Chief of Police Smitherman advised on February 14, 1965, that he had deputized five leading local Negroes to serve as auxiliary peace officers and would utilize them in the event of racial disturbances in Uniontown. No incidents were observed in connection with this meeting.

AT MARION, ALABAMA

On the night of February 14, 1965, Special Agents observed a rally at the Beacon Baptist Church from 7:30 p.m. to 9:40 p.m. of about 400 Negroes. James Orange, SCLC, advised that the principal speaker was Herbert Colton, Petersburg, Virginia, and that the present plans were for as many Negroes as possible to go to the County Courthouse in Marion between 9:00 and 9:30 a.m., February 15, 1965. No incidents were observed in connection with this rally.

Bureau Agents observed Negroes gathering at the Zion Methodist Church beginning at 9:00 a.m., February 15, 1965. At about 10:10 a.m. approximately 325 adult Negroes left the church and marched to the County Courthouse, using the south entrance and joining approximately 25 other Negroes who were already in the courthouse to fill out voter registration applications. As of 10:35 a.m. approximately 350 Negroes were seated in the courtroom waiting to apply. Thad Davis, Marion City Attorney, advised that Board Chairman James A. Blackburn was in a hospital but that the other two Board members and an additional clerk were on duty. The Board gave out numbers to those waiting to apply. Two sets of numbers were used, one to those persons who had been to the Board before and another set of numbers to those who were at the Board for the first time, with the repeaters being given priority. At approximately 11:40 a.m., February 15, 1965, 230 young Negroes left the Zion Methodist Church in two single file lines, one going to the north entrance of the courthouse and the other to the south entrance. The two lines were stopped, one by Chief of Police T. O. Harris and the other by Sheriff W. U. Loftis. The group left the courthouse about 12:40 p.m. without any arrests being made. No incidents were observed in connection with this appearance.

From about 2:35 p.m. to about 4:47 p.m., February 15, 1965, Special Agents observed approximately 210 Negro youths at the Perry County Courthouse from the north to the south entrance on the east side. One Negro girl was observed to several times put a picket sign she was carrying in front of the face of two Alabama State Troopers at the south entrance of the courthouse but the Troopers ignored her. Reverend Martin Luther King arrived at the courthouse at 4:00 p.m., walked down the line of pickets talking to them before going into the courthouse where voter applications were being taken. He talked briefly to Emmett C. Moseley, Acting Chairman of the Board, and left the courthouse at 4:47 p.m. After speaking briefly at the Zion Methodist Church, King left Martin at 5:40 p.m.

Emmett C. Moseley advised on February 15, 1965, that 379 priority numbers were issued during the day of February 15, 1965. Registration closed at 4:30 p.m. He estimated the number of persons processed during the day as between 50 and 75. Approximately 175 Negroes were in the courtroom when the Board closed and they remained there until 5:50 p.m. when the last one left. Sheriff Loftis said that James Orange, SCLC Representative, had asked the Negroes to stay in the courthouse but after Orange left the Negroes, without a leader, left.

Special Agents observed a Negro mass rally at the Zion Methodist Church from 7:00 p.m. to 9:30 p.m., February 15, 1965. At the same time, Negro youths met at the Rising Star Society Hall No. 4. Bernard Lee was the principal speaker and discussed plans for a mass meeting for February 16, 1965, to be followed by picketing of the County Courthouse. The meetings were covered by local police and State Investigators and no incidents were observed in connection with these meetings.

On February 16, 1965, Chief of Police T. O. Harris advised that the Board of Registrars, Perry County, Alabama, processed 108 applicants on February 15, 1965. None of the applications have been graded.

RACIAL DISSEMINATION OF RESISTANCE AND VIOLENCE,
PERRY COUNTY, ALABAMA

Periodic picketing of Perry County Courthouse by teenage Negroes from 10:45 p.m. to 11:42 a.m. was observed by Bureau Agents. Chief of Police Harris advised as long as the pickets were not too numerous he would allow them to walk the streets. He said he would stop them if they became too large a group but gave no certain number as to what he considered too large. This was on February 16, 1965.

Terry Shaw and Willie Taber, Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) Field Workers, advised on the same date that approximately 100 Negro teenagers were in the Zion Methodist Church to be used in the above picketing procedure and this would be the pattern until the courthouse closed. After the courthouse closes, a work shop was planned for the teenagers and a mass meeting at the above church was to be held at 7:00 p.m., February 16, 1965.

Bureau Agents observed 250 Negroes at a mass rally at Zion Methodist Church from 7:00 p.m. to 10:12 p.m. Two policemen in one unmarked city police car were on the scene. Two State Investigators were also on the scene.

William Turner, State Investigator, advised that Reverend L. C. Lewis, Brown's Chapel, Selma, Alabama, was the principal speaker. The main subject of talk was the many injustices imposed upon Negroes by whites and the need for a continued effort by Negroes to correct this situation.

James George, SCLC official, advised that if the weather were clear on February 17, 1965, plans were to include periodic picketing of the courthouse beginning at 9:00 a.m. In the event of rainy weather, work shops would be conducted throughout the day and they would be under the direction of SCLC and SNCC officials. George Turner advised that a march on the Perry County Courthouse would be a part of the 7:00 p.m. mass meeting scheduled for February 17, 1965. There were no incidents or arrests.

Edwina Selma, Secretary to the Executive Director of SCLC, on February 16, 1965, advised the Atlanta Office of the FBI that Andrew Young, Executive Director of SCLC, who is in Selma, Alabama, had instructed her to notify the Atlanta Office of a threat against the life of King. She stated that she did not know the details of this but understood from Young that the source of the information made the information available to Assistant Attorney General David Ellwanger, Montgomery, Alabama. Smith said that the threat concerned an attempted assassination of King in Marion, Alabama, where King was to lead some demonstration on February 15, 1965.

Also on February 15, 1965, Departmental Attorney Brian Landsberg at Selma, Alabama, advised that he had obtained information from [REDACTED] that an individual in Selma, Alabama, had "got a bead" on Martin Luther King when he was in Marion on February 5, 1965, however, he had been unable to shoot him. He stated this information was obtained by [REDACTED] from [REDACTED]

b7(c) [REDACTED] advised on February 16, 1966, that he never made a statement to anyone about Martin Luther King. He stated he did not know King had been in Marion, Alabama, until he heard it on a news program and has heard no one mention anything about anyone trying to kill Martin Luther King anyway. He stated if he had heard any plans to kill King, he would have immediately notified [REDACTED] as he thought this would be something for the law to handle. He could offer no explanation as to how he could have been reported as the person who had made any statement about being killed in Perry County, Alabama.

On February 17, 1966, Bureau agents observed approximately 10 Negroes picketing the Zion Methodist Church, Marion, Alabama, from approximately 8:00 AM CST to 11:15 AM CST. Approximately 30 Negro teenagers were carrying picket signs concerning voting and city officials, and walking around Perry County Courthouse in the area for about ten minutes starting at about 11:22 AM. There were no incidents or arrests.

On February 17, 1966, an FBI representative, advised that a meeting would be held most of the day and a mass meeting scheduled February 17, 1966 and a march on the Perry County Courthouse at night was anticipated. Bureau agents observed the mass meeting at Zion Methodist Church, Marion, at 7:15 PM, February 17, 1966, attended by approximately 250 Negroes. Albert Tucker, President, Perry County Civic League, was the principal speaker. At 7:52 PM the Negroes left the church, marched in two rows across the street and on the sidewalk toward the South entrance to the courthouse. They were stopped at the South entrance by Chief of Police T. O. Harris. They lined the sidewalks around to the East entrance where the Sheriff's deputies blocked the way. They prayed and sang until they re-entered the church at 8:17 PM. The meeting continued until 9:25 PM. There were no incidents or arrests.

Five white trooper cars were observed parked away from the area and 14 state troopers were standing by in the City Hall. During the demonstration they came out and assisted five Marion Police Officers and Sheriff and three deputies in controlling the traffic. After the demonstration, they returned to the City Hall.

On February 18, 1966, SACS field worker, advised there would be another meeting at 8:00 AM-11 AM, February 18, 1966, at the same church, but no definite plans were made for the day.

RACIAL DISCRIMINATION IN
REGISTRATION AND VOTING
PERRY COUNTY, ALABAMA

Bureau Agents observed the vicinity of the Zion Methodist Church, Marion, Alabama, where a mass meeting began at 9:30 a.m., February 18, 1965, and approximately 125 Negroes left the church, two abreast, crossed the street, and walked to the courthouse, where they were stopped by Chief of Police T. O. Harris. Approximately ten State Troopers and Sheriff with three Deputies assisted in patrolling the line while Chief Harris went down the line taking the names, addresses, dates of birth, and names of the parents or guardians of school children in the line. At 11:47 a.m., 24 other Negroes joined the group, and the same procedure followed. All the Negroes remained in line until 12:30 p.m., when they returned to the church. At 12:46 p.m., approximately 100 of the Negroes left the church and returned to the same position, where they remained for five minutes, thereafter returning to the church. Chief Harris advised that the Negroes have been boycotting schools in Perry County, Alabama, causing them to close, and he intended to furnish the State Board of Education and the families with names of the school children in line.

Sheriff W. U. Loftis arrested James Orange, SCLC, at 12:10 p.m., for contributing to the delinquency of minors for inducing the school children not to attend school. Bond was set at $300, and he was confined to Perry County Jail, Marion, Alabama. Three witnesses to be used in the contributing charge were named as Ed Jackson, born December 26, 1952, Terry Lee Avery, born August 20, 1952, and Annie L. Williams, born August 24, 1951, all Negroes. No other incidents occurred.

Bureau Agents observed a demonstration by approximately 125 Negroes on the sidewalk along the east side of the Perry County Courthouse, Marion, Alabama, from 1:16 p.m., CST to 2:15 p.m. They sang and cheered all during this time. Some of the teenagers were observed to jeer at State Troopers who patrolled the line in cooperation with the Marion Police Department and Perry County Sheriff's Officers. These individuals were taken from their spots in the line to one end of the line, but none were arrested. No incidents occurred and no arrests were made.

Chief of Police T. O. Harris advised that Albert Turner, President, Perry County Civic League and Leonia Langford, member of the Steering Committee, Perry County Civic League, had signed statements admitting they were responsible for the demonstration by the students.

Chief of Police Harris also said he had identified the following as new persons in Marion to help the Negro movement: Terry Shaw and Leroy Motor, both of the SNCC; Willie Bolton, Andrew Marrisett and George Baker (White), all with SCLC. He stated it appeared that Bolton was the one in charge.

Hosea Williams, SCLC at Selma, Alabama, advised that unidentified newsmen would be at the demonstration at Marion, Alabama on the night of February 18, 1965.

Bureau Agents further observed a mass meeting at the Zion Methodist Church, Marion, Alabama, commencing at 7:00 p.m., February 18, 1965, which was attended by approximately 400 Negroes. The meeting lasted until 9:00 p.m. They then left the church, marching towards Perry County Jail. Chief of Police T. O. Harris stopped them one-half block away, and advised over loud speaker that they were in unlawful assembly, and ordered them to disperse. He repeated this order three times, and State Troopers started marching them back into the church. There was some resistance, cursing, screaming, running and yelling, but at 9:30 p.m., all were in church, except approximately six who had been arrested. Sheriff Loftis advised that those arrested for unlawful assembly were George Baker, white male, age 19; Willie Bolton, Negro male, age 25; Searcy Wright, Negro male, age 25; James Dobynes, Negro male, age 28. In addition, Romareen Shaw, Negro female, age 29, was arrested for carrying a concealed weapon.

During the course of the demonstration, it was developed that Richard Valeriani, NBC newsman, was attacked by unknown assailants in front of the City Hall, Marion, Alabama, and taken to the hospital with cuts on the back of the head. His camera also was destroyed. Further, Alabama State Trooper Frank D. Higginbottom was attacked by two Negro males and struck on the head with a bottle, opening a gash above his temple, which required 12 stitches. One of his assailants was identified as Jimmy Jackson, local Negro male, age 25, who was shot in the stomach by an unknown State Trooper. Colonel Al Lingo, Director, Alabama State Troopers, stated that charges would be placed against Jackson.

There were approximately 20 State Troopers on the scene at time of the above incident under the direction of Colonel Al Lingo. Following the above incident an approximate 40 additional troopers arrived on the scene, together with Sheriff James Clark of Dallas County, Alabama, four deputies and an unknown number of Dallas County Sheriffs Office posse members.

Re: Communist Influence In Racial Matters
Internal Security - C

On February 12, 1965, a confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, furnished information which disclosed that Rachelle Horowitz (a confidante of Bayard Rustin), and Bayard Rustin were in contact on that date. Rustin, according to the source, told about a recent conference that he, Martin Luther King and others attended in Washington, D.C. (u)

It is noted that the same confidential source furnished information on February 8, 1965, that King and his advisors would meet with the Vice President, Congressional leader and the Attorney General on February 9, 1965. The meeting concerned events in Selma, Alabama. (u)

In remarking about the conference, Rustin said he wrote all of King's material while in Washington, as well as "keep everyone in line". (u)

Rustin said Ferman (phonetic) (James Forman, Executive Director of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee, SNCC) was in on everything, but was ignored by everyone. (u)

Re: Communist Influence In Racial Matters

According to Rustin, he got some of the civil rights leaders who were at the conference to promulgate five basic principles which King should enunciate (during the conference). ~~X~~ (u)

In continuing his remarks as to what transpired during the conference, Rustin said that following the conference, he (Rustin) was stopped by Mr. Humphrey (Vice President) and complimented for his "great contribution to the conference". In addition, according to Rustin, Mr. Humphrey told him that he could contact him at any time and went so far as to introduce his assistant as the man he should contact about an appointment. Humphrey, Rustin said, told him that, "I think you are a valuable person in our country and we must keep in touch". ~~X~~ (u)

On February 13, 1965, the same confidential source advised that Harry Wachtel was in touch with Bayard Rustin on that date, and made an appointment to meet Rustin on Thursday, February 18, 1965, at 4:00 PM, at his office. However, the source was unable to advise as to what their appointment would concern. ~~X~~ (u)

Wachtel told Rustin that King would speak in New York City on March 2, 1965, and wanted them (Wachtel and Rustin) to schedule a meeting of the "Research Committee" for March 1, 2 or 3, 1965. Rustin said he was agreeable to these dates. Wachtel said he would try to finalize these plans, and said he would let Rustin know as soon as they were definite. ~~X~~ (u)

With regard to the "Research Committee", it is noted that the same source has advised that this denotes a meeting of King and his advisors. U

A confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised on February 14, 1965, that Martin Luther King was in contact with Clarence Jones on that date. Among the matters considered was a request by King that Jones write two speeches for him. The speeches are to be presented by King before two Jewish groups. These speeches, King said, were necessary because he had learned from some of his rabbi friends, that Negro-Jewish relations were deteriorating. These deteriorations, King said, were due partially to the anti-Semitic comments of MALCOLM X, and because U

Other Negro leaders had failed to come to the defense of the Jews. King said the speeches which Jones would write did not necessarily have to be in point because his (King's) presence (before the Jewish groups) should mean something. U

The first speech scheduled by King will be on March 4, 1965, in New York City, before 3,000-4,000 Jewish women, comprising the Women's Division of the United Jewish Appeal for the purpose of receiving the Eleanor Roosevelt Award; the second speech is scheduled for the annual convention of the American Jewish Committee at the New York Hilton Hotel on May 20, 1965. U

Jones told King that he thought a satisfactory resolution was made by the President of the United States of America (with regard to the Selma, Alabama strife). King replied that he was equally pleased with the President's resolve. U

Jones told King that he had matters he would like to discuss with him in the future. King said he would be in Alabama on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday (February 15, 16, 17, 1965), and would be away with his wife getting some rest on Thursday through Sunday (February 18, through 20, 1965). King said the possibility existed that they could meet on Tuesday or Wednesday, but made no definite plans. U

King, in revealing his plans for the immediate future, said he would be in California on February 25-27, 1965, to attend a big fund raising project. He said he would probably preach there on Sunday, February 28, 1965. The affair, according to King, will include a showing of "The Greatest Story Ever Told", and he said it would "scare the house of about $28,000". In addition, there are two or three wealthy people trying to get 50 couples to give $1,000 and have 26 commitments already. King said they (Southern Christian Leadership Conference, SCLC) needed the money desperately. U

During their conference, King and Jones considered what King termed as "animosity" existing in Alabama by SNCC against the SCLC and him (King). He said the same situation U prevailed in Albany, Georgia. SNCC, King remarked, had told the press that "they" laid the groundwork for a sit-in and then he (King) dropped in for the publicity, and that his going to jail was a grandstand play. John Lewis (Chairman of the SNCC), has been in jail thirty seven times but has received little attention, King said SNCC reported. Furthermore, SNCC reported that they labored in the field and their staff worked very hard, then he (King) dropped in to raise funds, King remarked. U

King said that Harry (Harry Wachtel) contacted him about a spread in the Long Island paper ("Newsday") in which the reporter related the differences between SNCC and him and attacked his integrity. U

In an effort to resolve the differences between SNCC and him, King said he would like for Harry Belafonte (singer) to solicit the cooperation of SNCC as he was a supporter of theirs and they would listen to him. U

King said he had never gone to the news media to say that SNCC was irresponsible or irrational as "he thought most of them were", and said they had no sense of political timing. Instead of keeping their bitterness in the inner circle, SNCC goes to the press, King remarked. U

Jones said that he would call Harry Wachtel to determine what the true picture was, and then contact Harry Belafonte because he had a great affection for King. Furthermore, Jones added that Belafonte always defended the character of King even if it meant putting SNCC down. U

Jones said the number one complaint of SNCC was that leaders (civil rights leaders) did not go to the people for decisions but instead, made them without consulting their people. Robert Moses (of SNCC), Jones remarked, was the chief proponent of that theory. U

King, in attempting to answer the foregoing, said he did not vote for President Johnson to ask him to go on television and ask everyone to send a telegram advising what to do in Viet Nam; that he had enough faith in his capabilities to trust himself to make great decisions. U

Jones remarked that jealousies and differences were inevitable but that all groups should form a coalition and work together. King replied that SNCC wanted to work with the SCLC in Alabama, but with the bitterness now existing, he did not desire to do so. He said that possibly sometime the leaders of SNCC, Harry Belafonte and he could get together and discuss their differences as they had in Albany, Georgia. u

Among other matters discussed by King and Jones was a group in New Rochelle, New York, which King said already had $5,000 and desired to use it for a fund raising project to earn more. King said there was a pressing need of money in the SCLC. u

Jones said the advertisement which appeared in "The New York Times" (advertisement soliciting funds, February 5, 1965, on behalf of the SCLC) cost $2,000. King said his office had already received $12,000 this week (week of February 6-13, 1965), as a consequence of the advertisement. u

Their conference ended on the note that efforts would be made to encourage the New Rochelle group to increase the $5,000 as much as possible. u

In "The Saturday Evening Post", issue of July 11-18, 1964, page 76, Bayard Rustin is the subject of a feature article captioned: "The Lone Wolf of Civil Rights". In it, Rustin is said to have come to New York in 1938, as an organizer for the Young Communist League (YCL), and as such, he had the job of recruiting students for the "Party". Furthermore, the article reports that during his first years in New York, Rustin gave most of his earnings to the "Party". He reportedly left the "Party" in 1941, the article states. U

MUSLIM MOSQUE, INCORPORATED (MMI)

The March 13, 1964, edition of "The New York Times," a daily newspaper published in New York, New York, contained an article on page 20 which indicated that MALCOLM X (LITTLE), former national official of the Nation of Islam (NOI) who broke with the NOI on March 8, 1964, publicly announced in New York City on March 12, 1964, that he had formed the Muslim Mosque, Incorporated (MMI). The MMI, according to the article would be a broadly based politically oriented black nationalist movement for Negroes only, financed by voluntary contributions. In this public statement MALCOLM X urged Negroes to abandon the doctrine of non-violence when it is necessary to defend themselves in the civil rights struggle, and he also suggested that Negroes form rifle clubs to protect their lives and property in time of emergencies in areas where the government is unable or unwilling to protect them. U

Incorporation papers of the MMI filed on March 16, 1964, with the Business Section, Clerk of Courts, New York County, New York, New York, reflect that the MMI was incorporated under the Religious Corporation Law of the State of New York to work for the imparting of the Islamic Faith and Islamic Religion in accordance with "accepted Islamic principals." The principal place of worship to be located in the Borough of Manhattan, New York, New York. U

The May 23, 1964, edition of the "New York Amsterdam News," a weekly Negro newspaper published in New York City, contained an article by columnist JAMES BOOKER in which he indicated that he had heard that the visit by MALCOLM X with Muslim leaders during his African tour has changed him to become soft in his anti-white feelings and to become more religious. U

On October 6, 1964, a confidential source advised that the MMI is apparently affiliated with the true orthodox Islamic Religion through its affiliation with the Islamic Foundation (of New York), 1 Riverside Drive, New York City. The only teachings of the MMI are on the Islamic Religion. U

A second confidential source advised on October 20, 1964, that the headquarters of the MMI are located in Suite 128, Hotel Theresa, 2090 Seventh Avenue, New York, New York, where they were established on March 16, 1964. These headquarters are shared with the Organization of Afro-American Unity (OAAU) which is also headed by MALCOLM X. U

NATIONAL LAWYERS GUILD

The "Guide to Subversive Organizations and Publications," revised and published as of December 1, 1961, prepared and released by the Committee on Un-American Activities, United States House of Representatives, Washington, D.C., contains the following concerning the National Lawyers Guild: u

"National Lawyers Guild

- "1. Cited as a Communist front.
(Special Committee on Un-American Activities, House Report 1311 on the CIO Political Action Committee, u March 29, 1944, p. 149.)
- "2. Cited as a Communist front which 'is the foremost legal bulwark of the Communist Party its front organizations, and controlled unions' and which 'since its inception has never failed to rally to the legal defense of the Communist Party and individual members thereof, including known espionage agents.'
(Committee on Un-American Activities, House Report 3123 on the National Lawyers Guild, September 21, 1950, originally related September 17, 1950.) u
- "3. 'To defend the cases of Communist lawbreakers, fronts have been devised making special appeals in behalf of civil liberties and reaching out far beyond the confines of the Communist Party itself. Among these organizations are the * * * National Lawyers Guild. When the Communist Party itself is under fire these offer a bulwark of protection.'
(Internal Security Subcommittee of the Senate Judiciary Committee, Handbook for Americans, S. Doc. 117, April 23, 1956, p. 91.)" u

YOUNG SOCIALIST LEAGUE (YSL)

The March 1, 1954, issue of the "Young Socialist Challenge," published as page three of "Labor Action," an official publication of the Independent Socialist League (ISL), contained an article concerning the creation of the YSL, which pointed out that at a unity conference occurring February 12-14, 1954, at Labor Action Hall, New York, New York, a merger occurred between the Young People's Socialist League (YPSL) and the Socialist Youth League (SYL). The new organization was named the YSL. U

A confidential informant on June 15, 1954, made available the minutes of the YSL's National Action Committee meeting of April 13, 1954, which reflected that one S. SITERMAN, "Chairman of SP (Socialist Party) Youth Committee," had objected to a statement appearing in "Commerce," a New York University journal, which indicated that the YPSL merged with the SYL to form the YSL. He explained that the YPSL did not merge with anyone, that it continued to exist as the youth section of the Socialist Party. He explained that a small group of the YPSL was dropped, expelled, or suspended from that organization and joined the SYL, which he characterized as the youth group of the "Trotskyite ISL." He explained that after these few former members of the YPSL joined the SYL, the SYL then proceeded to change its name for its own purposes. U

On April 9, 1956, another confidential informant advised as follows: U

The YSL has frequently worked in close sympathetic cooperation with the ISL toward similar objectives, although each major issue given mutual consideration is decided upon by these organizations individually. The YSL serves as an apprenticeship for the ISL, but ISL selection of members from YSL ranks is made on an individual and personal basis. In many instances YSL members are also members of the ISL. U

YOUNG SOCIALIST LEAGUE (YSL) CONT'D.

The YSL and ISL utilize the same printing house in New York City and the YSL publication is printed as an insert in "Labor Action." Frequently, lecturers before the YSL are ISL members. u

The September 22, 1958, issue of "Young Socialist Challenge," which appeared as page five of "Labor Action," contained an undated statement from the National Action Committee of the YSL which indicated that the YSL had been dissolved. The statement appeared under the caption "Join the Young Peoples Socialist League." u

The YPSL is publicly known as the youth affiliate of the Socialist Party-Social Democratic Federation. u

A review of the photostat furnished by [REDACTED] b7(c) revealed that it purports to be an affidavit of one KARL PRUSSION, who represents himself to be a former counterspy for the FBI, from 1947 to 1960. During that time he attended five county committee meetings of the CP of Santa Clara, California.

During the aforementioned period, according to PRUSSION, ED BECK, a communist who was secretary to the NAACP of San Mateo County, California, presented a directive from the district office of the Communist party of San Francisco to the effect that:

"All communists' working within the framework of the NAACP are instructed to work for a change of the passive attitude of the NAACP toward a more militant, demonstrative, class struggle policy to be expressed by sit-ins, demonstrations, marches and protests, for the purpose of transforming the NAACP into an organization for the achievements of communist objectives."

Re Atlanta airtel 2/9/65 and Bureau airtel 2/11/65.

For the information of Bureau and interested offices, Kenilworth, N.J., is a highly industrialized town of 8,500 people located in Union County, N.J.

A review of the current N.J. Industrial Directory reveals that there are approximately 82 manufacturing and industrial concerns located in this town, and of this number approximately 48 employ between 5 and 25 people. The larger companies in this town appear to be subsidiaries of larger companies having headquarters other than in Kenilworth. There is no indication from a review of products sold or manufactured by these companies which would give lead as to what specific company could or would be in a position to sponsor a program such as that mentioned in referenced Atlanta airtel.

Newark surmises from text of referenced Atlanta airtel that the individual identified as BOB BROWN who is representing the Kenilworth, N.J., firm is possibly an attorney. In the metropolitan Newark area, there is a well-known Negro attorney named BROWN who was at one time head of the NAACP in Jersey City, N.J. This individual, however, is named RAYMOND A. BROWN, and there is no information that he has been referred to as BOB BROWN.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

My church is a member church of the American Baptist Convention with headquarters in Valley Forge, Pennsylvania. [REDACTED] is located almost due South of [REDACTED], Kansas about 58 miles. Our community is a small city of about 15 or 16 thousand population. I have been pastor of the church for little better than six years. This letter is to seek your help, if you can possibly give it, in a matter which seems to affect the general social temperature of the area. b7(c)

My question is not at all leading or loaded in any way. But, as you know perhaps, Dr. Martin Luther King is the pastor, or one of the pastors, of a church which not long ago became an affiliated church in the American Baptist Convention. Certain groups and persons, in the area, and some in the community itself, have circulated information purporting to establish that Dr. King is a communist. This is stated as a fact which, it is alleged, can be supported by factual and true evidence.

My purpose in writing to you is single-fold. I am in search of the truth about this matter. Is there evidence anywhere which will support the statement that Dr. King is a communist? If there is, would you kindly direct me to it so that I may be able to be in possession of the truth? This means much, in my estimation, to the general well-being of my whole church and the area as well.

I think that everyone in our country knows that you and Dr. King may have had some differences of opinion. We have all read of your latest conference. But, I think that this does not even enter in to this matter of mine. This is not the question which is in my heart. What I wish to know is simply this. Is Martin Luther King a communist? Or, is the statement that he is a communist just someone's personal point of view. I am sure that you will agree that there is a difference. I am after only the truth about this. Can you and will you help me? Thanking you most sincerely, I am -

Very respectfully yours,

ReNYairtel and LHM of 2/4/65; Buairtel of 2/5/65, in which NY was instructed to identify one CORA (LNU) who was in contact with BAYARD RUSTIN about the Poncheman Terrace Conference in NY 2/18-20/65.

NY has been unable to identify CORA, mentioned in reNYcommunication; however, additional clarifying information is reported as to the conference in question.

On 2/16/65, ROBERT ASHMORE, (winner of a Pulitzer Prize in Journalism) the Director of the Center For Democratic Studies, NY, NY, appeared on "The World At Ten" program on the National Educational Television Station, NY, NY, concerning the Pacem in Terris (Peace on Earth) Conference, opening in NY 2/18/65. He said the conference was based on an encyclical by the late Pope John XXIII.

Among the leaders of the world who are scheduled to attend, according to ROBERT ASHMORE, are Vice President HUMPHRY, Vice Premier PIETRO NENNI of Italy, Mrs. VIJAYA LAKSHMI PANDIT of India, as well as Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the US WARREN.

In view of the above, no further effort will be made by the NYO to identify CORA.

Enterprise Staff Writer

In 1960, Robert J. Brown decided to quit his job as a federal narcotics agent in New York City and return to High Point, his home town.

He stuck to his decision despite the reluctance of his wife and efforts of friends to dissuade him. After all, he was a Negro, and what chance was there for a Negro "down there"?

Brown returned to High Point and, last week, five years after coming home, saw the faith he had in himself and in his home town justified. Brown was named High Point's Young Man of the Year as winner of the Junior Chamber of Commerce Distinguished Service Award for 1964.

The 24th person and the first Negro to receive the award presented by local Jaycees, Brown was selected for the honor by a secret committee from a list of nominees cited for their community work and leadership.

In business, Brown is president and owner of B&C Associates, a public relations firm; chairman of the board of United Publishers Inc., which publishes the Carolina Times, largest and oldest Negro newspaper in North and South Carolina; and is chairman of the board of directors of Solar Corp., which operates a supermarket and warehouse.

ROBERT J. BROWN
Young Man of Year

Church Worker

In church and civic affairs, he is a member of the board of St. Stephens AME Zion Church and of the Carl Chavis YMCA. He is a student advisor at William Penn High School. Last year, Brown was chairman of the Citizens Steering Committee in race relations, a field that has drawn a great deal of his time and effort in recent years. He served as a member of a subcommittee on job opportunity and retraining for the High Point Humans Relations Commission and was appointed by Gov. Terry Sanford to be a member of the North Carolina Good Neighbor Council.

He is relocation advisor for the High Point Urban Renewal Commission and has served as High Point chairman for the United Negro College Fund appeal.

Why did Brown decide to return to High Point in 1960?

"I wanted to go into business for myself," he says. "I felt I should come back to my home in High Point and do what I could to make this a better place in which to live."

Brown is one of six children born to Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Brown. His father was a worker in a furniture factory. Because of his health, Mr. Brown has not been able to work since 1954. He and Mrs. Brown reside at 1309 E. Commerce St.

Brown attended High Point schools and graduated from William Penn High School in 1954. He studied at A&T College in Greensboro and at Virginia Union University in Richmond, Va.

Police Officer

In 1956, he joined the High Point Police Department as a patrolman and was married. He became a police officer in May; a groom in September. His wife, Sallie, is a native of High Point. She and Brown knew each other as a boy and girl in school together.

Brown left High Point in 1958 to go to work as a federal narcotics officer in New York City.

When he returned to High Point in 1960, he rented an office furnished with a desk, a chair and a telephone, over the Ritz Theater on E. Washington Drive. For six months, he contacted industries and business in High Point and other cities in the East and Midwest, seeking clients for his public relations firm. At the end of six months, his savings were exhausted and he had only one client.

One afternoon, while sitting in his office wondering what he should do, he received a telephone call from New York City. A man he knew there wanted him to do some public relations and survey work for his company. Brown was in New York the next day to begin work on the assignment. In the next few months, he earned as much money as he had made in two years as a narcotics agent.

With the success of his business, Brown did not forget his home town. He worked on projects that helped High Point to win the All-American City award. When protest demonstrations by Negroes broke out on a large scale in the summer of 1963, Brown worked with both white and Negro groups in seeking a solution.

Last year, Brown and his wife moved into their new home on Pennywood Drive. His public relations firm is located in newer and larger offices on E. Washington Drive. His ability has been recognized at industry and business meetings in New York, Chicago and other cities of the nation.

Robert Brown has no regrets for his decision to come home.

"When I was having such a hard time at the beginning," he says, "my grandmother told me if I had faith and conviction in what I was doing I should not lose hope she was right."

ReATAirtel, copies to New York, "Cominfil of SCIC, IS - C," 2/15/65, which made reference to one Rachel Deboise (phonetic). A lead was set out to identify this individual.

Rachel Deboise (phonetic) may be identical to one Rachel DuBois, a woman who is in her seventies and has been variously described as a Quaker, a pacifist, and an educator. At one time she was Professor of Intercultural Education, New York University. She has had prior communist front connections.

Through available established reliable sources promptly attempt to further identify the individual referred to in reairtel and determine if identical to the Rachel DuBois mentioned above concerning whom there are references in the New York Office files. Particularly, determine whether this individual has any connections with the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC) and/or King. Discrimination in Registration

Peter Hall, Negro attorney from Birmingham, Alabama, on February 9, 1965, advised a Special Agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation that he had been at the Dallas County Jail in Selma, Alabama, on the date conferring with Reverend James A. Bevel, presently confined at the jail. He stated Bevel gave him two small pieces of paper, one of which contained the following writings:

"Clay Rivers hired trigger man to kill MLK.
Mrs. Ethel Mobley was mtg. at Fuller's Store.
Told Mrs. Ella Harris."

The second slip of paper contained the following writings: "Miss Bertha Fikes."

Hall stated that Bevel had indicated this information had been furnished to him as a possible threat against Reverend Martin Luther King; however, he did not know when or from whom Bevel had obtained this information.

Reverend James A. Bevel, Southern Christian Leadership Conference Staff Member, was interviewed at the Dallas County Jail on February 9, 1965. Reverend Bevel stated he had received the above slips of paper from an unknown Negro female on February 7 or 8, 1965. He stated this Negro female was not Mrs. Bertha Fikes, but that it was his understanding that she might have gotten her information from Bertha Fikes, whom he believes is a Selma resident.

Bevel stated he knew nothing further concerning this alleged threat.

Moses Fikes, 1622 Railroad Street, Selma, Alabama, advised he is married to Bertha Fikes. At the time of the interview, February 9, 1965, he stated that on Sunday, February 7, 1965. Ella Harris, his wife's mother, visited them in Selma and he recalls that during conversation she told them that sometime last week she had been talking to Mattie Chris (phonetic), a Negro female from Perryville, Alabama. He stated Perryville is a small, unincorporated town in Perry County ten or fifteen miles from Marion. Fikes stated that according to Ella Harris in this conversation Mattie Chris told her that she works for Estel Mosley, a white woman who also resides near Perryville, and that Mrs. Mosley told her she was an Suller's Store at Perryville where some white man had reportedly said that if Martin Luther King came to Marion he would be killed. He stated that at no time did he hear the name Claud Rivers mentioned, but he does believe there is a white person named Claud Rivers who lives somewhere in the Perryville area. He stated that his wife may have told this story to persons in the Selma area who may have furnished the information to Reverend Bevel.

It should be noted Reverend Martin Luther King did go to Marion, Alabama, on the afternoon of February 5, 1965, where he made a brief speech and returned to Selma.

The above information was furnished to [redacted] Police, Marion, Alabama, and to [redacted] Sheriff, Perry County, Marion, Alabama, on February 10, 1965. b7(c)

This information was also furnished to [redacted] State Investigator, Alabama State Troopers, Selma, Alabama, on February 10, 1965.

[REDACTED] Selma, Ala., advised that MARTIN LUTHER KING did not mail any letters from the Selma jail during his recent incarceration there. [REDACTED] said, however, that numerous people visited KING in the jail and could have carried out letters for him. [REDACTED] said that as far as he knows KING was not searched when placed in the jail and, thus, he does not know whether or not KING had any letters with him when he entered the jail. U

Concerning the report that the FBI had appealed to KING to leave Selma, this is absolutely false. KING was not interviewed by any Bureau personnel while in Selma. He was photographed on 1/18/65 after he was assaulted by a white (mail) at Hotel Albert in Selma. The photographing agent, SA [REDACTED] spoke to KING notifying him that he wanted to take his photograph but did not identify himself and did not interview KING or comment other than notifying him that he was taking his picture, to which KING readily agreed. Re: Martin Luther King, Jr.

On February 10, 1965, a confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised that Martin Luther King was scheduled to arrive at Capitol City Airport, Lansing, Michigan, at 2:44 PM on February 11, 1965, to conduct a television video-tape interview from 3:00 PM to 3:40 PM, appear at a press conference from 3:45 PM to 4:10 PM, speak at Fairchild Auditorium, Michigan State University (MSU) from 4:10 PM to 5:00 PM, and depart Lansing Capitol City Airport at 5:40 PM via United Airlines Flight 631 en route to Chicago. U

The February 10, 1965, edition of "Michigan State News", a daily newspaper published by and for the students of MSU, East Lansing, Michigan, on page one contained an article entitled "Itinerary Set For Visit Of Martin Luther King", which states in part that Martin Luther King would be speaking at MSU to "kickoff" a fund-raising drive for the All University Student Government summer educational project in Mississippi. King, according to the article, will speak in connection with the new project which will provide funds and personnel to help Rust College in Holly Springs, Mississippi. The main project will be a summer clinic to raise the reading ability of high school juniors and seniors in the area. U

The February 12, 1965, edition of "Michigan State News", page one, contained an article entitled "King Fires Out Three Challenges In Speech Before 4,000 Students", which states in part that a crowd of nearly 4,000 people at the Fairchild Auditorium listened to King speak after giving him a standing ovation for nearly a minute before and after his talk. Re: Communist Influence In Racial Matters

A confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, furnished information on February 4, 1965, indicating that Clarence Jones received information on that date which revealed that Harry Wachtel wanted him (Jones) to attend a meeting of the "Research Committee" (a meeting of Martin Luther King's advisors) on February 5, 1965. According to the source, the meeting was to take place at Wachtel's office, 575 Madison Avenue, New York City, between the hours 12:30 and 5:30 PM. U

Wachtel, according to the source, had received a message from Andrew Young (Program Director of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, SCLC), in Selma, Alabama, on February 4, 1965, that the meeting should be held as planned, adding, however, that Martin Luther King would not attend but would be represented by him (Young). U

During the late evening of February 4, 1965, the same confidential source advised that Clarence Jones and Andrew Young were in contact on that evening. Young advised that neither he nor King would attend the "Research Committee" meeting scheduled to be held on February 5, 1965, in Wachtel's office. Young said that was due to the expected visit of several Congressmen in Selma, Alabama, on the same date. U

Another confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised that Harry Wachtel and Clarence Jones were in contact on February 5, 1965, regarding the scheduled "Research Committee" meeting for that date. Wachtel said in that regard that he was certain that King and Andrew Young would not attend, and that only Bayard Rustin (Organizer of the March on Washington), Cleveland Robinson (Secretary-Treasurer of District 65, Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Workers Union; American Federation of Labor-Congress of Industrial Organizations, AFL-CIO), Walter (Walter Fauntroy, Director of the Washington office of the SCLC), Mike Harrington (National Committee member of the Socialist Party) and he (Wachtel) would attend. U

Wachtel and Jones also took the opportunity to discuss a letter which appeared in "The New York Times" on February 5, 1965, which solicited funds in behalf of King and the SCLC. In that regard, Wachtel said he was a "little unhappy that he had not been in on the composition of the letter, and how big a bomb it would have been if King had been released from jail." Wachtel said he desired that King get out of jail, but Jones said he trusted King's timing and urged Wachtel not to worry about it. U

With regard to the letter in "The New York Times", which Wachtel and Jones discussed, it is noted that on February 5, 1965, "The New York Times", page 15, carried an advertisement captioned, "A Letter From Martin Luther King from a Selma, Alabama, Jail". In the letter, King opens with a statement that little did the King of Norway realize when he presented him the Nobel Peace Prize that in less than sixty days he would be in jail, adding that he (King of Norway) and the world will be shocked because they are little aware of the unfinished business in the South. U revealed the persisting ugliness of segregation to the nation and to the world". U

King, in answering a question as to why they were in jail, said, "Have you ever been required to answer 100 questions on government, some abstruse even to a political science specialist, merely to vote? Have you ever stood in line with over a hundred others and after waiting an entire day seen less than ten given the qualifying test?" U

King said: "We are in jail simply because we cannot tolerate these conditions for ourselves or our nation". U

A plea for funds is then made by King in behalf of the SCLC. U

According to the source, Jones and Wachtel also discussed the efforts being made to unseat the Mississippi Congressional delegation because of their state's refusal to permit Negroes to vote. In that regard, they commented over the fact that Bayard Rustin was "getting the red smear". Jones said it was not "red baiting" but simply a statement of the record and that people had to make their own decision. U

Wachtel quoted Rustin as saying, "Look, I may be a liability but I'm good". To this, Wachtel remarked, "This guy's a liability and he's not good, period". U

With reference to the meeting of the "Research Committee", on February 5, 1965, at 12:55 PM, Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation observed Bayard Rustin enter the building at 575 Madison Avenue, New York City, and take the fifth floor elevator; at 1:35 PM, the Special Agents observed Cleveland Robinson enter and take the elevator to the fifth floor. 1 Re: Communist Influence In Racial Matters

It is noted that Wachtel's office is on the fifth floor of the building at 575 Madison Avenue, New York City. U

On February 6, 1965, a confidential source, who has furnished reliable information in the past, advised that Bayard Rustin was in contact, on that date, with Harry Wachtel. X U

Wachtel advised Rustin that Lee White (Special White House Assistant) had contacted Wachtel and stated President Johnson was disturbed and annoyed with King's recent statement that he would see President Johnson on February 8, 1965. According to White, President Johnson is tied up February 8, 1965, and that King could meet with Attorney General Katzenbach on February 8, 1965. X (U)

Wachtel said a second tentative plan would be for King to telephone President Johnson, February 6, 1965, and then see Katzenbach February 8, 1965. Wachtel said that King could issue a statement that he had just talked to the President. X (U)

The final course of action was not known by the source. U

During the afternoon of February 7, 1965, the first source mentioned heretofore, furnished information that Harry Wachtel and Clarence Jones were in conference on that date regarding a meeting of King and President Johnson. Wachtel said he had been in touch with Lee White at the White House about King's coming trip to Washington. In that regard, Wachtel said that trip had opened up a "hornets' nest for the President", and that King's statement about a meeting with the President would have to be very carefully worded. U

Wachtel said the White House desired certain words such as "not definite, hopeful, in view of circumstances" used by King in his statement about meeting the President. U

Re: Communist Influence In Racial Matters

King, according to Wachtel, was to see the President some time after his meeting on Tuesday with the Vice President and Attorney General, but said that fact had to be kept in complete secrecy. If it got out, Wachtel said, the President would not see King. U

Wachtel, in pursuing the matter further, said he hated to see the Viet Nam crisis, but at least it showed that he (Lee White) did not lie yesterday when he said the National Security Council expects to meet on Monday and Tuesday. U

King, according to Wachtel, "now knows that when he is dealing with the President, he is not dealing with a friend, but with a Texan". U

The same source furnished information on February 7, 1965, indicating that Stanley Levison visited Clarence Jones at his home on that date. The source was unable to advise what this visit pertained to. U

Late during the same date, the source advised that Clarence Jones prepared a press release for Martin Luther King on events in Selma, Alabama, and then conferred with Harry Wachtel, seeking his comments on the release. The release as prepared was as follows: U

"Recent events in Selma, Alabama, have disclosed the persisting barriers to enfranchisement of Negroes in the South. If the rate of registration manipulated in Selma were to prevail, it would take several decades to register eligible Negroes. The mandate of the American People and the intention of Congress are subverted by these conditions. There is a clear and urgent need for new and approved Federal legislation and Executive action to eliminate these undemocratic barriers. To pursue this objective, conferences in Washington are being planned. The pressure of international affairs have made impractical a Monday conference with the White House. However, on Tuesday, I will be meeting with Vice President Humphrey in his capacity as Chairman of the newly formed Council for Equal Opportunity, and the Attorney General, Nicholas De Katzenbach. Following the preliminary explorations of the issue, plans will be made for further discussion on appropriate levels where the programs we believe to be indispensable for solution of problems can be examined." With the concurrence of Jones, Wachtel expunged the words executive action and inserted law enforcement in lieu thereof, and made additional changes to read as follows after the words undemocratic barriers: U

"To pursue this objective conferences in Washington have been scheduled. The pressure of international developments has made impractical the scheduled Monday conference. However, on Tuesday, I will be meeting with Vice President Humphrey in his new capacity as Chairman of the newly created Council for Equal Opportunity, and with Attorney General Nicholas De Katzenbach. I am in communication with the White House concerning a possible meeting with the President. While there are no definite arrangements for such a meeting, I am hopeful that such a conference will be held on Tuesday. Following the preliminary explorations of the issue, plans will be made for further discussion on appropriate levels where the programs we believe to be indispensable for solution of problems can be examined." In "The Saturday Evening Post", issue of July 11-18, 1964, page 76, Bayard Rustin is the subject of a feature article captioned: "The Lone Wolf of Civil Rights". In it, Rustin is said to have come to New York in 1938, as an organizer for the Young Communist League (YCL), and as such, he had the job of recruiting students for the "Party". Furthermore, the article reports that during his first years in New York, Rustin gave most of his earnings to the "Party". He reportedly left the "Party" in 1941, the article states. u

The YCL has been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450. u

The "Daily Worker", February 11, 1957, page 1 column 2, reported that Bayard Rustin, Executive Secretary, War Resisters League, was an observer at the 16th National Convention of the Communist Party, United States of America (CP, USA), held in New York City, on February 9-12, 1957. u

NATIONAL LAWYERS GUILD

The "Guide to Subversive Organizations and Publications," revised and published as of December 1, 1961, prepared and released by the Committee on Un-American Activities, United States House of Representatives, Washington, D.C., contains the following concerning the National Lawyers Guild: U

- "3. 'To defend the cases of Communist lawbreakers, fronts have been devised making special appeals in behalf of civil liberties and reaching out far beyond the confines of the Communist Party itself. Among these organizations are the * * * National Lawyers Guild. When the Communist Party itself is under fire these offer a bulwark of protection.'
(Internal Security Subcommittee of the Senate Judiciary Committee, Handbook for Americans, S. Doc. 117, April 23, 1956, p. 91.)" U

INDEPENDENT SOCIALIST LEAGUE (ISL)
FORMERLY WORKERS PARTY (WP)

The May 4, 1942, issue of "Labor Action," then an official publication of the Workers Party (WP), carried an article which reflected that the WP was formed in April, 1940, as a result of a split within the leadership of the Socialist Workers Party (SWP). The article stated that when the Hitler-Stalin Pact was signed and Poland invaded, the minority group within the SWP, in proclaiming the formation of the WP, condemned the pact as being imperialistic in nature and stated it would not support either imperialist camp. LL

The April 25, 1949, issue of "Labor Action" contained an account of the Fifth National Convention of the WP, held March 24-27, 1949, in New York City, which reflected the change of name of the organization from the WP to the Independent Socialist League (ISL) in order to emphasize the character of the group as a propaganda group for the spreading of socialist ideas and not as a full-fledged political party. LL

The July 14, 1958, issue of "Labor Action," an official publication of the ISL, contained an article captioned, "The ISL Program in Brief." The article indicated: "The ISL stands for socialist democracy and against the two systems of exploitation which now divide the world: capitalism and Stalinism. The ISL, as a Marxist movement, looks to the working class and its ever-present struggle as the basic progressive force in society. The ISL is organized to spread the ideas of socialism in the labor movement and among all other sections of the people. There can be no lasting and genuine democracy without socialism and there can be no socialism without democracy." LL

The September 22, 1958, issue of "Labor Action" contained an undated statement signed by the Political Committee of the ISL which indicated that the ISL had been dissolved. The statement urged former ISL members to join the Socialist Party-Social Democratic Federation. LL

The SWP has been designated by the Attorney General of the United States pursuant to Executive Order 10450. LL

SOCIALIST YOUTH LEAGUE (SYL)

A confidential informant has advised that the Socialist Youth League (SYL) began in 1945 when several militant members of the Young People's Socialist League (YPSL), the youth organization of the Socialist Party, accepted a proposal that they become affiliated with the Workers Party. The first issue of the group's newspaper, "Youth Action for Socialism," in October, 1945, contained an article which indicated that "...Only socialism can answer youth's needs for jobs, peace, education and a fuller life...Our organization is the only national revolutionary youth group in America." U

The March 1, 1954, issue of the "Young Socialist Challenge," published as page three of "Labor Action," an official publication of the Independent Socialist League, contained an article concerning the creation of the Young Socialist League (YSL) which pointed out that at a unity conference occurring February 12-14, 1954, at Labor Action Hall, New York, New York, a merger occurred between the YPSL and the SYL. The new organization was named the YSL. U

Another confidential informant on June 15, 1954, made available the minutes of the YSL's National Action Committee meeting of April 13, 1954, which reflected that one S. SITEMAN, "Chairman of SP (Socialist Party) Youth Committee," had objected to a statement appearing in "Commerce," a New York University journal, which indicated that the YPSL merged with the SYL to form the YSL. He explained that the YPSL did not merge with anyone, that it continued to exist as the youth section of the Socialist Party. He explained that a small group of the YPSL was dropped, expelled, or suspended from that organization and joined the SYL, which he characterized as the youth group of the "Trotskyite ISL." P explained that after these few former members of the YPSL joined the SYL, the SYL then proceeded to change its name for its own purposes. LL

On April 9, 1956, another confidential informant advised as follows: U

The YSL has frequently worked in close sympathetic cooperation with the ISL toward similar objectives, although each major issue given mutual consideration is decided upon by these organizations individually. The YSL serves as an apprenticeship for the ISL, but ISL selection of members from YSL ranks is made on an individual and personal basis. In many instances YSL members are also members of the ISL. U

The YSL and ISL utilize the same printing house in New York City and the YSL publication is printed as an insert in "Labor Action." Frequently, lecturers before the YSL are ISL members. u

The YPSL is publicly known as the youth affiliate of the Socialist Party-Social Democratic Federation. u
